THE OLD RELIABLE

Wedding

A very pretty wedding ceremony last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs P. C. Jones, Kunkini Road, Nunanu, anited in marriage Miss Alice Jones and Mr. Abram Lewis, Jr., who are now spending their honeymoon at "Malu hin," the Jones country home in Nun ann valley. In the midst only of relalives and close friends the couple were William made man and wife by Dr. Morris Kincaid, pastor of Central Union Church.

The Jones homestead was artistically lecorated throughout for the happy oc Near friends spent yesterday in adorning the home with the prettiest and most fragrant of the season's blossoms, banking the rooms everywhere with green from mountain and plain. The lanni was set with potted plants palms predominating. The hallway and staircase were lined with palms, the balastrade being covered with a trailing parasite vine, while clusters of spider lilies were used most effectively. The parlor was filled with roses whose fragrance filled the house. The piano was banked with exquisite La France roses and upon a circular table stood a bowl filled with bride's roses. In the dining-room were beautiful purple or-chids from Mr, and Mrs. S. M. Damon's puntry estate at Moanalua. A bank of daisies completed the decorations there.

The library in which the ceremony took place was entirely in green and white. The bay window was hung with maile ropes and the walls were larly draped, interspersed with Easter lilies. Stephanotis blossoms and ferns were banked close to the walls. The archway was hung with maile. Half a dozen carnation hearts were prettily placed in the midst of the maile.

At quarter to S o'clock Little Dick Restorer, Br. cable stmr., Combe. San ad Ruth Gartley, nephew and niece of Francisco, Feb. 9. and Ruth Gartley, nephew and niece of the bride, came down the stairway. preceding the bride, who entered the vedding hall on the arm of her father, C. Jones. The bride was not at tended, nor was the groom, who entered the room with the minister. The bride, a popular society girl, looked lovely in her gown of baby Irish lace over white satin, a tollet of unusual beauty and originality. Her veil of tulle was caught in the coiffure with orange blossoms and she carried, as bridal bouquet, soms and she carried, as driving the state of Easter lilies. At the wedding supper the bride's cake was ent by Mrs. Lewis and a ring and thimble went to luckymaldens, as trophies of the FIGHTING ON occasion, and the cake itself, the handi-work of Miss Ladd, was distributed among the guests.

The couple, after concluding their honeymoon at Maluhia, will reside at the Hobron cottage on Bates street.

The bride is the daughter of one of the well-known families of Honolulu, Mr. Jones being one of the most solid and public-spirited men of the islands. Gilroy, California, and was a member ford University. He has resided in Honolulu for many years.
